STICHTING BANDOENGSE TECHNISCHE HOOGESCHOOL FONDS (BTH GRANTS)

Revised Edition

STICHTING BANDOENGSE TECHNISCHE HOOGESCHOOL FONDS (BTHF GRANTS 2022)

BACKGROUND

Stichting Bandoengse Technische Hoogeschool Fonds (BTHF) was established in 1926 at The Hague, The Netherlands after the establishment of Technische Hoogeschool Bandung (now Institut Teknologi Bandung, ITB) in 1920. Starting capital of the BTHF was derived from the donation of the Dutch government at the occasion of transfer authority of the Technische Hoogeschool from Dutch government to the local government.

In line with the research strategic planning of ITB, the collaboration between ITB and Dutch academia provides opportunities to learn complementary disciplines that may be applied to solve existing problems. This may lead to the development of innovative solutions. Table 1 shows the contribution of the two countries, The Dutch and Indonesian academia to the top 1 % worldwide research topic according to the Scival Elsevier database. The Dutch academia shows great achievements within 15 research topics as all FWCI values are shown to be above one (1) whereas Indonesian academia needs to put much effort to elevate the performance. In summary, ITB researchers shall provide contributions to these important worldwide research topics.
